

I figured that the "Cavs Girl of the Week" feature would be a nice way to get things started each Monday as the NBA regular season winds to a close and the playoffs approach. What I didn't figure was that the first installment would generate more positive responses, replies, and emails than five weeks of legitimate journalism.

And who am I to deprive the masses of what they want?

More than likely, Kara is the girl you've been saying "Oh my God, look at that blonde on the end" about to your buddies at Cavs games for the last three seasons. I know I have.

What you didn't know until now is that her favorite food is cavatelli, and her favorite book is Mitch Albom's "The Five People You Meet in Heaven" ... which may be my favorite food and book as well.

A little disturbing, however, is the fact that "Pretty Woman" seems to be the favorite movie of everyone on the Cavs dance team. Calls to the Cavs dance team coordinator asking if this is a prerequisite for hire have gone unreturned.

And lastly, for any of you stalkers out there, several of the Cavs girls will be making an appearance at Jillian's in Cleveland Heights this Friday night.
