As a born and bred Clevelander, I am all about the Rock ‘n Roll. I am of the generation of Album Oriented Rock (AOR), the 70s radio format featuring longer, more obscure, and less-repeated songs than the ones the Top-40 stations played. (In its heyday, AOR stations were even known to play bootleg recordings of local concerts, complete with muffled coughs and hushed comments- surreptitious versions that were spirited out of concert halls in a manner worthy of Cold War espionage.)

Into the latter part of the decade, WMMS carried the banner. They announced the weekend with their weekly, 5pm Friday broadcast of the “Friday on my Mind”, “Switchin’ to Glide”, “Born to Run” troika. A heavy dose of Murray Saul (right) was wedged in there, with a gravelly narrative on why he was ready for “FRRIIIIDAYYYYY. FRIIIIIIIIII-III-III, DAY.”

Of course, most of my musical tastes remain rooted in that era. Someone recently asked me if I had heard the “new Bowie”, because it’s really good. I assumed they were talking about “Let’s Dance”, from the mid-1980s

Stadium beer night fans riot, ending Indians' rally in forfeit

By Associated Press
Cleveland, Ohio (AP) — A riot broke out at a Cleveland Indians game Tuesday night after fans threw beer on the field, forcing the game to be forfeited to the visiting team.

The riot began in the lower level of the stadium after the Indians took a 3-0 lead in the seventh inning. Fans threw beer onto the field, and some threw chairs and other debris.

The game was suspended for about 45 minutes. When play resumed, the Indians were leading 3-0. The game was forfeited to the visiting team because of the riot.

'God Squad' wants to kill safety post; Carney ready to go

By Associated Press
Cleveland, Ohio (AP) — A group of firefighters, known as the "God Squad," is pushing for the removal of a safety post from the fire department's roster.

The God Squad consists of firefighters who are members of the Fire Department's union. They are pushing for the removal of a safety post because they believe it is unnecessary and a waste of resources.

The fire department's chief, John Carney, is ready to go along with the God Squad's request. He believes that the safety post is not needed and that the firefighters can handle the job without it.

Senate passes bill to bail out CTS

By Associated Press
Washington (AP) — The U.S. Senate has passed a bill to provide financial assistance to the Cleveland Trust System (CTS).

The bill is part of a larger package of legislation aimed at providing financial assistance to various state and local government entities that are facing financial difficulties.

The CTS is a financial institution that has been struggling for some time. The bill would provide the CTS with the funds it needs to continue to operate.

Tape erased by hand, experts conclude

By Associated Press
Cleveland, Ohio (AP) — Experts have concluded that a tape recording was erased by hand.

The tape recording was found in a case involving a criminal investigation. The experts analyzed the tape and found that it had been tampered with.

The experts believe that the tape was erased by hand, which means that the original recording was destroyed. This is a significant finding in the case.

Fluorine holds lead in California vote

By Associated Press
Sacramento, Calif. (AP) — Fluorine holds a lead in the California vote on a proposed constitutional amendment.

The amendment would allow the state to use fluorine in the production of nuclear weapons. Fluorine is a chemical element that is used in the production of nuclear weapons.

Fluorine is currently leading in the vote, but the outcome is still uncertain. The amendment is expected to be voted on in the coming months.
