

Ortiz Dominates Shamrock At Fight Night

Written by {ga=fightdr}

Tuesday, October 10 2006 7:00 PM -

In the main event of Ultimate Fight Night yesterday, Tito Ortiz once again dominated Ken Shamrock, likely ending the career of one of the founding fathers of mixed martial arts fighting. In his review of last night's matches, The Spoon Man has some kind words for both of these warriors.

Domination. That one word sums up the three Tito Ortiz Ken Shamrock fights.

Tonight, once again Tito Ortiz showed everyone that his ground and pound is a force to be reckoned with. This fight took only a little longer than the last meeting. Ortiz picked up where the quick ending second match stopped. He simply outmuscled Shamrock, getting him to the ground and then bombs away. Elbows and punches leading to the lights being turned out on a 13 year career of a UFC Hall of Famer.

Ken Shamrock was a true founding father of the mixed martial arts game. He started way back at UFC 1 in 1993. He fought many of the toughest guys in the sport and was very dominate for a long stretch of time. It was very good to see him go out with the class he has always shown throughout his career. He will be missed.

The one sight I had a feeling we would see tonight was a hug and handshake between the two bitter rivals. I always knew Tito Ortiz had respect for Ken Shamrock but he never wanted to show him because that is a huge part of his gameplan. Intimidation.

Ortiz Dominates Shamrock At Fight Night

Written by {ga=fightdr}

Tuesday, October 10 2006 7:00 PM -

Tonight however, Tito finally said what all MMA fans knew. It was Shamrock who paved the way for guys fighting today. He also said he is a better fighter and man for stepping into the octagon with him.

All of the members of Team Punishment had a great night. Kendall Grove showed why he is an up and coming star of the sport winning in a 1st round KO of Chris Price. Matt Hamill also got a victory in a tough fought match with Seth Petruzelli. That win came via a unanimous decision.

Ed Herman was defeated by an awesome triangle choke by UFC newcomer Jason MacDonald. It was probably the most well executed choke I have seen in awhile. That fight didn't make it out of the first round.

Complete results:

Marcus Davis over Forrest Petz - Submission (Guillotine choke) - 4:58 of Round 1

Thiago Alves over John Alessio - Unanimous Decision

Rory Singer over Josh Haynes - Unanimous Decision

Tony DeSouza over Dustin Hazelett - Submission (Kimura) - 3:59 of Round 1

Nathan Marquardt over Crafton Wallace - Submission (Rear Naked Choke) - 1:14 of Round 2

Matt Hamill over Seth Petruzelli - Unanimous Decision

Jason MacDonald over Ed Herman - Submission (Triangle Choke) - 2:43 of Round 1

Kendall Grove over Chris Price - Submission (Strikes) - 3:59 of Round 1

Ortiz Dominates Shamrock At Fight Night

Written by {ga=fightdr}

Tuesday, October 10 2006 7:00 PM -

Tito Ortiz over Ken Shamrock - TKO (Strikes) - 2:23 of Round 1

Everyone knows what is next for Tito Ortiz. Another shot at the MMA king Check Liddell. I can't wait to see it in December.