It's Friday night, which means it's time for Mitch to look ahead at the new movies coming out to the theaters this weekend. And we Browns fans have a treat this week, as the biopic "The Express" comes out. This tale of Syracuse RB Ernie Davis has lots of ties to the Cleveland Browns, and probably a lot better football action than we'll see from the Browns on Monday Night Football. Also out this week, the Ridley Scott CIA thriller "Body of Lies" with Leo and Crowe. Mitch also gives us the 4-1-1 on the new DVD releases and the latest news and rumors.

The Crystal Ball - October 10th Releases

There is a movie coming out this week which has the Cleveland Browns as a very prominent backstory to its tale.

It's sure to be a lot more uplifting than what we'll probably see from the real Cleveland Browns on Monday Night Football.

More on that later.

And the funny story of the week is about the producers of the right wing comedy "An American Carol" claiming that there is a conspiracy against their film, and that many more people went to see it...but there was "ticket fraud", and people were "given tickets to other movies".

The producers backed off the claim when they realized that no one would believe that 17 year old pimply faced geeks working at theaters could possibly be bright enough to pull off something so complex.

Anything to reduce the sting of having the left wing "Religious" pulling in three times as much money-per-theater, eh?

News and Rumors

~ Tim Burton has another big casting name for his upcoming "Alice in Wonderland" movie. Anne Hathaway will play the White Queen in Burton's mix of live action and animation. She is the benevolent monarch of Wonderland, deposed by her sister, the evil Red Queen ("Off with their heads!"), to be played by Burton's girlfriend Helena Bonham Carter.

As previously announced, Johnny Depp will play the Mad hatter.

~ Forest Whitaker won an Academy Award playing a real life character with his portrayal of Idi Amin in "The Last King of Scotland". He might be in line for another, as he will star in a biopic about the legendary Lois Armstrong.

~ Another day, another comic book movie. The latest announcement is that Josh Brolin will star in a film version of a 1970s DC Comic, Jonah Hex.

Hex is a former alcoholic and confederate soldier turn bounty hunter.

How this slipped past Vince McMahon and his WWE stooges, I have no idea.

(This might be the thinnest "News and Rumors" I've had since starting this segment. I think everyone was too busy sitting around being depressed about their stocks going into the toilet).

This week's new movie releases:

The Express

Starring: Rob Brown, Dennis Quaid, Darrin Dewitt Henson

Plot: The life story of Syracuse halfback Ernie Davis; the first African American to win the Heisman Trophy.

View Trailer

The BeerBuzz: Checked this one out earlier today. Maybe one of the best football movies I've ever seen.

Extremely well done, with Rob Brown doing an amazing job as Davis, and Dennis Quaid magnificent as coach Ben Schwartzwalder.

Come back on Sunday and read the review.

Body of Lies

Starring: Leonardo DiCaprio, Russell Crowe

Plot: In Jordan, an ex-journalist working to locate an Al Qaeda leader for the CIA faces pressure from an agent for whom failure is not an option.

View Trailer

The BeerBuzz: Another Ridley Scott thriller with his favorite actor Crowe...combined with two alums from "The Departed", DiCaprio and screenwriter William Monahan. Despite that, this is getting highly mixed reviews, with the slight majority being positive.

Might be a victim of the continued rejection of audiences regarding films about the War on Terror.

Might just be because the script makes the poor people think too much.

I'll let you know sometime next week, as it's on my list.

City of Ember

Starring: Saoirse Ronan, Toby Jones, Bill Murray, Tim Robbins.

Plot: The underground City of Ember has been the only refuge for humans for the last 200 years. But with the generators failing, two teenagers must find the secret that can get them to the outside world.

The BeerBuzz: This week's family movie, allowing Bill Murray and Tim Robbins to mug for the camera shamelessly. You might be thinking from the trailer that this is in the same vein as "Harry Potter", but it's not that mature. Think more in the lines of "The Spiderwick Chronicles" or "Bridge to Terabithia"; when determining if it's right for your older kids.

Quarantine

Starring: Jennifer Carpenter, Steve Harris, Columbus Short

Plot: A television crew gets locked inside a NYC apartment building by a CDC issued quarantine. Later, a video tape from their crew is the only evidence as to what happened

View Trailer

The BeerBuzz: Hey! Let's blatantly steal the whole "trick" behind
"Cloverfield"; and this time, instead of nasty aliens, we'll have nasty zombie-like creatures! Ugh. It's nice to see Jennifer Carpenter get a leading role after her excellent work as Deb Morgan on "Dexter";...but not in this garbage.

The Duchess

Starring: Keira Knightley, Ralph Fiennes, Dominic Cooper

Plot: A chronicle of the life of 18th century aristocrat Georgiana, Duchess of Devonshire, who was reviled for her extravagant political and personal life

View Trailer

The BeerBuzz: This contender for the Awards seasons has been out in limited release for a few weeks, and now gets released nationwide. Very good buzz for Knightley, who plays a character that many people would recognize as having a lot of similarities to Princess Diana.

In fact, Georgiana was a distant relative of the late Princess.

In any case, the awards they'll be shooting for will only be for Knightley, as the rest of the film is standard British costume drama.

DVD Releases on Tuesday, October 14

Indiana Jones and the Kingdom of the Crystal Skull - Harrison Ford may be getting up there in years, but he still fills out the fedora and leather jacket quite well.

Shia LeBeouf gives him almost as good of a partner as he had with Sean Connery in the third film.

Lots of fun to watch, as it really is a trip down memory lane for Indy, especially with the return of Karen Allen as Marion.

On the downside...don't expect anything new and exciting here.

Just predictable popcorn fun.

The Pirates Who don't do Anything - A VeggieTales Movie - Produce as Pirates. You've been warned.
